REQUEST FOR PROPOSAL # 29-25

City of Rockville JEDI Strategic Plan

I. PROJECT OVERVIEW

A. Intent.

It is the intent of this solicitation to engage one or more qualified firms to conduct a comprehensive assessment and analysis of Justice, Equity, Diversity and Inclusion emerging and existing needs and develop a comprehensive strategic plan to guide policy and procedures as well as metrics for accountability of progress towards goals.

B. Background.

The City of Rockville is the county seat of Montgomery County, Maryland, located along the I-270 corridor approximately 12 miles northwest of Washington, DC. Rockville's 2017 population is approximately 68,000, with employment of approximately 77,000. City residents enjoy an excellent quality of life, with Rockville's low crime rates, high-quality schools, and a great park system. The City is frequently listed among the country's best places to live by such sources as Money Magazine, Livability.com, and Niche. Diversity is a feature of Rockville, with significant percentages of Hispanic, Asian American, and African-American residents. Additionally, Rockville includes people of all ancestries, languages, gender identities, sexual orientation, ages, abilities and education and income levels. What makes us different makes us great. We respect all these differences and believe they make our city stronger. Rockville's economy is also diverse, with key industries being life sciences, education, health, lodging, technology, and retail.

Rockville is home to major corporate headquarters, county government offices, the Circuit and District court buildings as well as the Rockville Campus of the Montgomery College (the largest of its three countywide campuses), numerous shopping centers, restaurants, and entertainment facilities. Rockville's residents believe their city has high-quality, secure neighborhoods where they can raise children and retire, that Rockville is respectful to different cultures and beliefs, and is a city committed to creating a welcoming community for all backgrounds. Rockville has achieved a perfect score in the Human Rights Campaign's Municipal Equality Index (MEI) scorecard since 2017. The MEI analyzes and rates more than 500 municipalities across the country, measuring them for the inclusivity of laws, policies and services for their LGBTQ+ communities. Rockville's Human Rights Program is engaged in meaningful work with and on behalf of the community. Together, we work to ensure equal treatment, free of discrimination, for people who live, work or visit the city. The city's Human Rights Commission is charged with minimizing the effects of conflict and promoting appreciation of diversity within Rockville. Residents or visitors who feel that they have experienced discrimination based on age, ancestry, creed, color, disability, marital status, national origin, race, sexual orientation, gender or presence of children may file a complaint through the Human Rights Commission. In 2017, while keeping the City of Rockville's dedication to protecting and serving all persons regardless of immigration status, the Mayor and Council added the “Fostering Community Trust” ordinance. This ordinance solidifies the Mayor and Council and the City of Rockville’s long-standing social justice and inclusion commitment. Community members in need of a modification to assist them in attending a city program or accessing a city facility or service can fill out the online ADA Request for Accommodation Form.

The Office of Justice, Equity, Diversity and Inclusion (JEDI) provides administration, services and programming designed to promote justice, ensure inclusion and support belonging for all who live, work and visit in the City of Rockville. The JEDI objectives align with the Mayor and Council’s priorities; specifically, their investments in public services and infrastructure that ensure community well-being. The program will be measured by its effectiveness and impact through specific, measurable, relevant and time bound metrics. Programming is designed to primarily serve the residents and employees of the City of Rockville including members of all identities, specifically people with varying abilities, ethnicities, sexual orientations and gender expressions, religious affiliations, ages and more. JEDI aims to achieve targeted outcomes which include improving inclusive procurement practices and council budgetary submissions, improving public policy through annual equity impact assessments of prioritized policies, and improving workforce capacity through annual equity and belonging trainings with outcomes indicating skill development.

Foundational Principles and City Priorities

Diversity is interwoven into Rockville’s story, and Rockville is one of the most ethnically diverse small cities in the United States. Rockville’s residents believe their city has high-quality, secure neighborhoods where they can raise children and retire, that Rockville is respectful to different cultures and beliefs, and is a city committed to creating a welcoming community for all backgrounds. The scope and impact of social justice, racism and bias on city residents, and in the community, remains a priority for the Mayor and Council as well as the Rockville City Manager and all employees within the city government. The Office of Justice, Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion was formally established in October 2024.

The Mayor and Council, recognize that racial inequity is institutionalized with systematic racism in the policies and practices of many governmental institutions. This reality can establish and impose statistically significant burdens for marginalized communities. These communities can be intersectional and include communities of color, physically, mentally and developmentally disabled communities, LGBTQ and gender nonconforming communities, distinct religious communities and more. The Mayor and Council also recognize that issues of racial, ethnic and social equity must be addressed proactively and deliberately in the course of decision-making to increase the success for all. On July 12, 2021, the Mayor and Council adopted Resolution 10-21 thus endorsing and committing to the establishment of government policies and practices that reduce and eradicate implicit bias, and advances diversity, cultural competency, fairness, and equity in all City government.
