REQUEST FOR PROPOSAL # 23-25

HOUSING NEEDS ASSESSMENT

I. PROJECT OVERVIEW

A. Intent.

It is the intent of this solicitation to engage one or more qualified firms to conduct a comprehensive Housing Needs Assessment. This assessment will inform city policies and planning efforts, aiming to address current and projected housing needs in a rapidly evolving housing market. Additionally, the assessment will include a focused land use evaluation to identify parcels with potential for housing development, including those owned or operated by religious institutions, government entities, schools, surface parking lots, those underserved by infrastructure, and other underutilized parcels within ½ mile of transit.

B. Objective.

The primary objectives of the Housing Needs Assessment are to:

1. Understand the current demographic, economic, and housing market landscape within Rockville.
2. Forecast housing demand by household type, income bracket, and tenure (renter vs. owner) for the next 25 years, incorporating trends in the regional economy and population shifts.
3. Identify housing gaps and needs among specific population groups, including older adults, young families, low-income households, and individuals with special needs.
4. Conduct a land use assessment to evaluate parcels with potential for future housing development, emphasizing equitable access to transit and jobs.
5. Assess the effectiveness of existing housing policies and programs and recommend adjustments or new initiatives to better meet the community's evolving needs.

C. Background.

The City of Rockville is the county seat of Montgomery County, Maryland, located along the I-270 corridor approximately 12 miles northwest of Washington, DC. Rockville's 2017 population is approximately 68,000, with employment of approximately 77,000. City residents enjoy an excellent quality of life, with Rockville's low crime rates, high-quality schools, and a great park system. The City is frequently listed among the country's best places to live by such sources as Money Magazine, Livability.com, and Niche. Diversity is a feature of Rockville, with significant percentages of Hispanic, Asian-American, and African-American residents. Rockville's economy is also diverse, with key industries being life sciences, education, health, lodging, technology, and retail.

Rockville is home to major corporate headquarters, county government offices, the Circuit and District court buildings as well as the Rockville Campus of the Montgomery College (the largest of its three countywide campuses), numerous shopping centers, restaurants, and entertainment facilities.

Rockville's population is becoming more diverse and age-balanced, with growing shares of Hispanic and Asian residents driving higher household sizes, and substantial increases in both single-person households—many young adults delaying homeownership—and senior households seeking age-friendly housing. Alongside this demographic shift, the city's relatively high median incomes are polarizing while high-income households continue to push up home prices and rents, moderate- and low-income households—especially renters—face mounting affordability pressures. Employment remains tied closely to Montgomery County, with government still the largest sector but private-sector, lower-wage jobs growing regionally, contributing to wage stagnation and exacerbating housing cost burdens; over half of renters and nearly a third of homeowners in Rockville now spend 30 percent or more of their income on housing.

Looking ahead to 2040, Rockville will need almost 10,000 new units—predominantly smaller multi-family homes, both rental and ownership—to accommodate an aging population, households with disabilities, and a surge in lower-income renters. Homeownership rates are projected to dip from 56 percent to around 49 percent as rental demand outpaces for-sale construction. To meet these needs, the city is expanding its toolkit: bolstering federal, state, and local funding (including a stronger housing trust fund), recalibrating its MPDU program, leveraging public land, zoning for medium-density housing, and preserving naturally occurring affordable units. A balanced strategy that supports both new construction and preservation, rental and ownership, and addresses extreme low-income needs alongside market-rate barriers is critical to sustaining Rockville's economic vitality and community diversity.

D. Term of the Agreement.

The Contractor shall begin work within ten (10) calendar days after receipt of a Purchase Order. The anticipated term of this contract shall be for twelve (12) months.

E. Minimum Requirements.

In order to be considered, the proposer must meet all of the following criteria:

1. Demonstrated Experience in Housing Needs Assessments

- a. Proven track record completing at least two (2) comparable housing needs assessments or housing market studies for municipalities, counties, or regional planning agencies within the past five (5) years.
- b. Experience must include data collection, demographic and economic forecasting, and policy analysis.

2. Expertise in Quantitative and Qualitative Data Analysis

- a. Demonstrated capacity to analyze and interpret complex datasets, including census data, housing market indicators, and economic forecasts.

- b. Experience designing and executing surveys, focus groups, and community engagement efforts.

3. GIS and Land Use Planning Capacity

- a. Proficiency in using GIS tools to conduct land use analysis, map development constraints and opportunities, and evaluate proximity to transit and key amenities.
- b. Experience working with zoning codes and public land inventories (e.g., school, religious, government, and parking properties).

4. Familiarity with Housing Policy and Local Government Planning

- a. Deep understanding of federal, state, and local housing policies, funding mechanisms, and regulatory frameworks.
- b. Ability to provide actionable policy recommendations aligned with municipal priorities and legal constraints.

5. Strong Project Management and Communication Skills

- a. Ability to manage complex projects on time and within budget, including coordination with multiple stakeholders.
- b. Strong writing and presentation skills, with experience preparing public-facing reports and briefing elected officials or advisory bodies.

6. Team Composition and Qualifications

- a. A multi-disciplinary team including housing policy analysts, urban planners, economists, GIS specialists, and community engagement professionals.
- b. At least one team member must hold an advanced degree (Master's degree or higher) in urban planning, public policy, economics, or a related field.

The proposer shall provide proof of the above minimum qualification by furnishing copies of letters, certificates, etc. (as applicable); which clearly document said qualifications. Failure to provide said documentation with your proposal shall be grounds for deeming your firm not qualified and removing the proposal from further consideration. This is a non-negotiable item.
